residents to leave town to meet later and discuss an investigation. One unusual condition found by the Councilmen was three prisoners on Butler Island in confinement because they became intoxicated while at work in the prison plant shop five days before.

THE ISLAND BOAT.

"They drank dearest alcohol while working in the plant shop," was the explanation of Deputy Mayor James McDade. "They got drunk on real bootleg liquor brought here by friends on the city boat," several fellow prisoners quietly informed the Councilmen. Councilman Purcell inquired what treatment had been given the men after they drank the alleged dearest alcohol, which is a deadly poison.

"We didn't give them any treatment. We just locked them up," replied the person official. "It looks more like it is if they got drunk on real liquor. For them to work," the Councilman directed, and this was immediately done.

THE ANDERS DEATH PROBERS BALKED BY BRIDE

he can't help it. But there is no reason to say that he is a colored man just on that account."

The bridegroom, whose father, Philip Kip Rindland, is a leader of the "inner circle" of New York society and worth more than $500,000, said:

"Why not tell what you know about your own life and your parents' life for the happiness of us both, honey?"

And when the bride, whose father at one time was an auto bus driver and caretaker, said:

"I was the morning to know that my father and mother came from English stock for generations back on the Atlantic I signed when we applied for a marriage license. I stated that both were born in England. Dad was born in Worcester, and my mother in Alford."

"Dad's father died when he was very young. He can hardly remember him. Dad then went to work to support his mother. He came to America thirty years ago with mother and they came at once to live in Pelham."

Everybody knows and respects him here. He is now retired having made a comfortable amount in real estate. He owns our home on Belmont road and other houses nearby."

NEAR COLLAPSE.

At this point, the young Mrs. Rindland showed signs of collapse but her husband said:

"Calm yourself. My father has not been told about the marriage and added:

"No, Dad would probably distrust me. If he knew."

George Jones, the bride's father, said the marriage was performed without his knowledge and added:

"If I had my way, things might have been different. You know how young people are. They do as they please, consulting no one."

"Whether it is a matter of life or death, whether at the luncheon table, the theatre or in the ultra-exclusive left avenue millinery district, this sensational marriage formed the chief topic of discussion."

But in a little more than a week, the marriage was dissolved. The bride and her husband, who had been married for a few days, were divorced.

Young Rindland—was 21 on his last birthday—went into this marriage compact with his eyes wide open. He knew his bride's father and mother. He knew that his wife's sister, Emily, is married to Robert Brooks, brother of the late John Brooks, of the Boston city clerk, and Harry Cox, secretary to the Mayor, were witnesses.

At the time of the wedding, the bride was 14. She was a New York girl, and her father was a New York man. She was a New York girl, and her father was a New York man.

LINE IS BLUE-BLOODED.

He appeared worried because the newspaper had learned of his marriage before his father had been told of it.

On the marriage license filed with the town clerk of New Rochelle, Rindland is given as a girl, and the date of his birth as 1911. He was born in New York City. His mother was Adelaide Kip, the daughter of Isaac Leonard Kip, a "white" written in response to a query as to the race of the bride. The young woman's mother, who like her father, was born in England, is a white woman.

scribes fully to the recommendations made in the report.

Miss Bernice Brown, dean of Radcliffe College, declared that no report of violations affecting girls in that institution has come to her. Simmons College reports that no complaints have been received there.

"It seems absurd to me that anyone who has any common sense would believe the reports being made and circulated and exaggerated by some of the people concerning students in the Back Bay district."

"H. T. Tucker, president of the student council of M. I. T., expressed the opinion that the report is exaggerated. Glen Baxter, president of the senior class at Ford, thinks otherwise, along the same line. He declared that the report of the committee meetings are "fantasies on social questions" and that the student representatives have "struck enough to stand up and say 'Nonsequia, that's all, boys.'"

POLICE ARE READY.

The landladies and landladies of the Back Bay district are informed over the charges that the student living conditions in their houses are not what they should be and today many of them are planning to sue students for whatever alleged vice acts.

They point out that in many cases they have had to evict students because of their conduct, and declare that the rooming houses do not surround the students with vice but that the students bring it along with them.

Police officials promise action when specific information is pointed out to them, and, while admitting that some of the charges seem at first exaggerated, they promise cooperation in every effort to clear up the district.

The committee which makes the charges is hard on work, comparing facts and figures which, it declares, will eventually be given out. Plans are being laid for a series of public hearings which experts on social matters, who will be called upon to testify, will be held until next year. The committee hopes to have every rooming house listed and "will be marked by a desire for college officials, be able to stop students from coming in to the houses of which they disapprove."

BUTLER SECOND REQUEST BAY STATE SENATOR

William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee, has accepted the appointment of United States Senator in place of late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

"I am deeply ashamed of the great honor which has been conferred upon me by Governor Cox, chief executive of this Commonwealth."

"I accept the appointment with a full determination to give every effort to uphold and perform the obligations of the office and to render acceptable service."

"I haven't fully considered questions of policy yet," he answered. "Later in the week I probably will issue a statement on this subject."

"Do you intend resigning right away as chairman of the Republican National Committee?"

"I have not given that matter any consideration yet," he answered with finality.

"The interest of the newly-named Senator in corporate affairs and the fact that he is President of the Boston & Worcester Electric Company, located at 100 West End Street, is a fact which is being pointed out by Speaker Fitch."

The wealth of Senator Butler is in marked contrast to the modest income enjoyed by David I. Walsh, who after his election by Speaker Fitch, was elected by Speaker Fitch.

GIRLS AT BOSTON UNIVERSITY WHO SMOKE FACE EXPULSION

HABIT IMPERILS MORALS OF STUDENTS, DEAN STATES

If the fair co-eds of Boston University are in doubt as to whether they may smoke or not, here is something which they must at least put in their pipes.

Should the desire of any of the colleges recommend the expulsion of a girl caught smoking, Dr. Le must Herbert Murlin, president of the university, will approve the recommendation and that girl will be expelled.

And as far as could be gathered—the deans of the colleges are previously opposed to allowing the female students to associate with Lady Nicotine, regardless of the pressure or advice of the "bad element." Most emphatic in this approval is Dean T. Lawrence, dean of the college of Practical Arts and Letters.

"I am astonished," declares Dr. Lawrence, "to know that a distinguished educator of Boston is questioning the girl's smokes if they are a lady-like manner." While he has certain types of women who might be expected to smoke, he is not the part of school girls, it is not to believe that a man of high standing would approve of this practice.

"I have before me a newspaper clipping which reads in the effect that the office of Mrs. L. J. Franklin, dean of women, does not as far as Boston University is concerned, 'it is left entirely to the girls themselves.' This may or may not represent Mrs. Franklin's

College Head Found Dead

Appleton, Wis., Nov. 14.—Samuel Platts, president of Lawrence College since 1914, was found dead in bed in a hotel at Argonne Bay, day.

Smoking in Simmons dormitories is no longer a problem, so the Student Council decided, when discussing the problem that Simmons should take to the Inter-Collegiate Conference on Student Government at Vassar. Quiet in the dormitories, since the use of tobacco is the subject that Simmons will discuss with the thirty other colleges that will be there.

Miss Esther Barrett, of Cambridge, the president of student government at Simmons, and Miss Ruth Morrill, of Tuscon, Ariz., have been chosen by council to represent Simmons at the conference at Vassar, the college chosen to be hostess this year.

CHARGE OFFICER SEIZED RICE GAME CASH

Accused of Riding in Taxi to Ring Boxes; Rum and Women Mentioned

Revelations of an alleged drinking and gambling party in the home of Patricia, Edward J. June of St. June 12, last, which, ended when the policeman seized all the money in the dice game, was made before a trial board at headquarters today.

A feature of the proceedings was the testimony of a taxi driver, who said he took June to Boston to purchase liquor, and later drove the policeman around his route while he pulled his boxes.

June, who lives at 23 Dutton street, Dorchester, was charged with neglect of duty, following the complaints of three men said to have been participants in the "dice" party. Two women were also said to have been present.

TELL ABOUT $56.

The party is said to have started at June's house about four o'clock in the afternoon, when the policeman, three other men and two women, attracted there by liquor, later were taken to have a game of dice.

According to the charges, he dropped into the house frequently throughout the evening. On one of these visits one of the guests is said to have agreed to take June to the Phoenix Club in Roxbury after the party.

The policeman is quoted as saying what assurance he had the man taken to his room.

"Here's $56," the other is said to have replied, "if I don't take you back."

June is alleged to have put the $56 in his pocket and later when the party ran out of liquor, he called a taxi and, going to Boston, returned with two casks, for which he is alleged to have paid $16 out of the $56.

ARGUMENT ENSUES.

At 12:30 a. m., according to the charges, June returned to the house just as a patrol wagon passed and shouted:

"The police are here, here's the money," at the same time seizing the taxi and driving it into the street.

The men hastened to Station 11 and the complainants, Sergeant Ochs and Maxon were sent to June's house, and reported they seized liquor on his bench. They did not search him.

3 ACCUSED IN ATTACK ON WEYMOUTH GROCER

Walter Hunt of Weymouth and Leroy Whitaker of Braintree are held on a charge of assault with intent to rob Joseph Thorne, manager of the Weymouth Cooperative store, on the night of November 5.

William Peeshey of Quincy also is held as an accessory before the fact in the same case. The three men were arrested by Sergeant Butler and Patrolman Coyle of the Weymouth police.

Brown was attacked with a baseball bat, when near his home, and severely bruised. He was not robbed, as he had no money with him.

YALE CAMPUS TO BE MADE COLONIAL TYPE

New Haven, Nov. 14.—Yale traditions will be preserved in spite of a disruptive South Middle on the college campus, the Yale Alumni Weekly says today, in a discussion of the controversy over the new dormitory. The argument that the old campus is being "disrupted" is declared to be whimsical. The changes, the weekly says, are a part of a broad plan to bring harmony out of discord, to carry the campus back to the colonial type of its beginning.

OFFERS $1,000 IF RUMORS ARE PROVED

Worcester, Nov. 14.—Persistent rumors that he belonged to "a certain organization" have caused so much annoyance to Arthur G. Swanson, treasurer of the Worcester Baking Company, that he has been moved to offer a reward of $1,000 to anyone who can substantiate them.

This announcement was published in Worcester today.

$1,000 REWARD.

My attention has been called to malicious rumors, circulated recently with the intent to injure the business standing in the community of both myself and the company which I represent.

Ordinarily we ignore rumors, but those being circulated are so malicious, false and unfounded that they can no longer be allowed to go unchallenged.

If any person can substantiate these rumors I will pay that person or any charitable organization he may designate, the sum of $1,000.

Yours for fair play,

ARTHUR G. SWANSON,
Treasurer, Worcester Baking Co.

Mr. Swanson said today that the rumors had been brought to him by friends and by persons in his employ. He would not name the organizations with which the gossipers would affiliate him but, in answer to a question, he said that he was not a member of the Ku Klux Klan, or of any other organization. He added that in selecting employees he drew neither race nor religion into consideration.

ELECTION VOTE BARELY EXCEEDS 26,000,000

Davis Takes Place of Cox in History as the Worst-Beaten Candidate

Washington, Nov. 14 (U.S.A.)—Fettered and virtually complete floundering in the presidential election of 1924 value nearly every one of the popular elections that were held in political districts prior to the election.

The popular vote, as now counted, falls considerably short of the thirty million mark estimated by the various campaign managers. In the final analysis it barely will exceed the 26,000,000 mark of the Harding vote.

Official returns from all States still are lacking, but the vote today had been sufficiently tabulated to reveal some interesting facts.

PAID TO DAVIS.
James Cox has been generally labeled as the "worst beaten" candidate in Democratic history. Yet the final returns for 1924 will give the palm to John W. Davis, although President Coolidge ran considerably behind Harding. Davis carried twelve States against eleven for Cox, but he was more than a million vote behind Cox in the popular vote.

HURT DEMOCRATS.
La Follette ran ahead of Coolidge in but one State, Wisconsin. He ran ahead of Davis in seven States, California, Idaho, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

In most of these States the combined total for La Follette and Davis exceeded the Coolidge vote.

MICHIGAN STUDENTS ILL WITH TRICHINOSIS
Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 14.—Four University of Michigan students suffering from trichinosis are in no better shape than when they entered the medical school, said today.

"Two do not appear to have the disease in the most acute form and there is no present reason for concern in regard to any of them," he said.

Trichinosis from eating wild game, he said, is a very rare disease and probably in the milder cases is generally overlooked.

WARNS OF HIGH-PRICE BREAD BY MERGER

People's League Asks Attorney-General to Consider the Consolidation of Bakers

Washington, Nov. 14 (N.S.A.)—Attorney-General Stone was asked today by the People's Reconstruction League of the Department of Justice had authority to investigate the pending merger of baking interests into the Continental Baking Corporation.

In a letter to the Attorney-General Benjamin C. Marshall, secretary of the league, suggested an inquiry "to determine whether the purpose or probable result will be to increase the price of bread to consumers and thereby to be in restraint of trade."

"An excuse for higher retail prices for bread will be offered on account of the somewhat higher price farmers are getting temporarily for wheat," Marshall said, "but the figures are practically clear that no increase above the usual charge for bread is necessary even with the higher price for wheat."

BOSTON TICKET PLOTTERS HUNTED

Thousands of Stolen B. & M. Fares Disposed of in Boston

A score of detectives and investigators are scouring Boston today, running down men believed to be involved in a gigantic railroad ticket swindle here, during the past several years.

Railroad tickets, worth thousands of dollars, stolen and sold at low prices by passenger conductors on the Boston & Maine Railroad, were shipped to Boston and disposed of by illicit ticket sellers, according to evidence in the hands of the authorities.

At Portland, Me., two arrests have been made, and one passenger conductor on the Boston & Maine line in Portland, Me., has been in the habit of "holding out" on an average of ten tickets a day, selling them in Portland for an average of $1.50 each.

The sum already under arrest in connection with the huge swindle are Patrick J. Connors, a Portland stockbroker, and Abraham Starkey, proprietor of the Pine Leaf Agency in Portland.

Connors, it is alleged, purchased stolen tickets from the Boston & Maine conductors. These tickets, it is charged, he disposed of by sending to Boston those he could not sell in Portland.

While the Boston & Maine is the only railroad thus far connected definitely with the conspiracy, auditors are checking on the Maine Central and Grand Trunk lines as it is feared that, there, as well as other roads have been colluded in the daring plot.

It was stated that the Central Committee of the Free Italy Organization objected to General Garibaldi's taking part in the contest.

FIND CLEW TO IDENTITY OF WEIGHTED BODY

Corpse Found in the Mystic
River With Bullet Wound
Is Traced by Check

The body found in the Mystic River, Charlestown, with a bullet wound in the mouth and weighted down with a stone weight, is believed to be that of S. D. Anderson of Boston, and Editha, Prince Edward Island.

Police are awaiting the report of the medical examiner as to whether death was suicidal. Charlestown high school boys discovered the body.

In the pockets of the man's clothing, the boys found a large check, which on this check, police obtained a handle and in the handle was a coat, made by a Harrison Avenue tailor, then they saw several years ago to an S. D. Anderson, a card bearing the name of Ralph Partridge was also found in the pockets. It bore instructions for reaching Framingham. Mr. Partridge is a lawyer for a Washington street store.

The man now dead, the American learned, fought a suicide in the Washington street store two weeks ago. He told the salesman that he was born and formerly lived in Prince Edward Island. From other things he said, the salesman deduced that he had been a mechanic, but had refused to live on a small income.

He appeared to be in good health and active and made of average build in Framingham. The salesman wrote him directions to Framingham on one of Mr. Partridge's cards. The man was found in the clothing of the man was addressed to Alan Hyde, Editha, Prince Edward Island, who is believed to be a friend or relative.

GUARDS "MORE GUILTY THAN I," SAYS SLAYER

Michigan City, Ind., Nov. 14.—Harry Diamond of Gary, Ind., met death unflinchingly in the electric chair at the Indiana State Prison at 12:24 a. m. today. His execution was for the murder of his wife, who was shot to death while motoring between Gary and East Chicago, Ind., in February, 1933.

To a sister, Fannie Diamond, he is said to have confessed that he killed his wife, but declared that the crime was committed while he had an epileptic fit. As he was led to the electric chair, however, he said to his guards:

"You men are more guilty than I."

FORMER ACTOR
HELD ON FALSE
CHECK CHARGE

Washington, Nov. 14.—Seth McCongue, who has been a writer and actor, is in jail here charged with attempting to defraud the government through a forged check. Bond has been fixed for him at $25,000.

Police assert McCongue has served two terms in prison, but has been able to gain the favor of many persons in the stage and literary world. It is charged that last March in Cleveland he presented a $4,000 check to the postmaster signed with the name of George Hackathorne, a Hollywood motion picture actor. He was arrested in Texas and escaped on route here, but later was arrested at Dallas. There, the authorities assert, he was living a life of luxury, posing as Hackathorne and being feted by "movie" fans and theatre managers.

While serving a sentence in Leavenworth, it is said, McCongue interested New York writers in his case and after his release he was taken to New York and an effort was made to rehabilitate him.

KATZ MURDER
IS NOW LAID TO WOMAN

Los Angeles, Nov. 14.—With the announcement that two witnesses had been discovered who could positively identify the slayer of Harry K. Katz, musician, art collector and diamond broker, who was shot to death Monday evening in the Ambassador Apartments by an unidentified gunman, the district attorney's office today began investigation of the crime from an entirely new angle.

Katz is now believed to have been slain by a woman in revenge for a wrong fancied or real. While the district attorney was questioning all persons heretofore named in connection with the mystery murder, a bombshell was exploded in the police department when Chief of Police R. Lee Hunt announced the appointment of Captain George K. Home as chief of detectives. Home is a veteran crime investigator.

Whether the shake-up in the police department was the result of the failure to run down the slayer of Katz was not stated. Among the witnesses questioned today were Mrs. Fannie Henderson, manager of the Ambassador Apartments, and Hal Holl, Santa Monica real estate broker, arrested yesterday on suspicion of murder and released a few hours later.

Bradley King, a Hollywood woman scenario writer, to whom Hal told the police he expected to sell the $125,000 diamond necklace owned by Katz, was also summoned to the district attorney's office.

WILBUR OPPOSES SUIT TO SAVE BATTLESHIPS

Washington, Nov. 14.—Secretary Wilbur today asked the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia to dismiss the suit of William H. Shearer of New York, seeking to prevent destruction of the unfinished Battleship Washington, on the ground that the government had not consented to be sued. The secretary asserted Congress had authorized the President to scrap certain ships, and that he was acting as the agent of the President in ordering the vessel to Virginia Capes to be used as a target. He also asserted that Shearer had not shown that he had an interest in the question sufficient to justify his bringing the suit.

FIANCE MAKES MOTHER SIGN DOTTED LINE

Youth Threatens to Elope if Plans to Marry Are Balked: He Wins

When Mrs. John (Johnnie) of No. 1163 Boston street, Boston, threatened to withhold her consent to the marriage of her sixteen-year-old son, Eugene, the latter countered with a threat to elope with her.

That incident 25 years ago is still fresh in the mind of Mrs. Johnnie. Now she is Mrs. Johnnie (Johnnie) of No. 114 Main street, Watertown, is the bride of young Eugene.

The chief reason for Mrs. Johnnie's objection to the wedding was the unfortunate coincidence that occurred on the eve of his wedding young Eugene lost his job. The former Mrs. Devis had a much sorer time of getting parental consent than did her young husband. The couple are now living at the home of the bride's parents.

Young Eugene and his bride became acquainted nearly two years ago when they were employed in the same shop in Watertown. The couple were married in St. Paul's Church, Watertown, by the Rev. Father Duffy.

Louis A. Shaw, Noted for Hospitality, Again Proves Himself a Gracious Host

By BETTY ALDEN.

IT MIGHT seem that only feminine measures of society are successful in the art of successful entertaining.

Yet some of the most lovely and successful affairs are staged by men who are truly and unhesitatingly master of their own domain—gentlemen whose homes are quite worthy of the famous "Tudor House."

There's Louis A. Shaw, whose home is probably one of the best-known in the city.

Some time ago Mr. Shaw sold his home at No. 5 Marlboro street, but he has moved to his new home at No. 281 Berkeley street.

Just a few days ago he gave one of the first parties of the season. It was a large dinner—staged in the new home at No. 281 Berkeley street.

Mr. Shaw's company included some of the most notable folk of the city. Among the guests present were Mr. Arthur H. Hays, Wayne Whitman and Charles H. Hays.

The dinner was a most successful one. Mr. Shaw's hospitality was the chief feature of the evening.

MRS. MORTIMER SEABURY

She is chairman of the entertainment committee of the Junior League. The league will welcome its newly-elected members at a tea this afternoon at No. 37 Commonwealth avenue, the new home of the league.

At Paul. They will remain there probably until about the first of the year, when they will return to "Princeton." Upon their return, Fredrick Prince, Jr., will go over to take charge of the house at Paul, during the absence of his father, who is master of the Paul house.

Work is going on again by the way, on the new polo field being constructed at "Princeton." Just now it is being regarded and should be ready to be completed in the Spring.

This second polo field at "Princeton" is likely to mean that some important matters will be staged there, for the field promises to be one of the most excellent in the country.

Mr. Edward Cunningham, who makes his home at the Ludlow, left Boston a few days ago for Burlington, Iowa, where his brother, Charles Perkins, recently met with a serious accident.

Mrs. George E. Hall is giving a luncheon today for her daughter, Miss Alice Hall, of the provisional group elected to the Junior League this Fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Webster, Mrs. John K. Howard and Mrs. William A. Gorton were of the Bostonians arriving the other day at the Ritz-Carlton in New York.

Mrs. William Appleton Barnhart, who spent the Summer abroad, has returned to her New York residence at No. 8 West Fifty-third street.

Maxwell Norman has closed his country place at Hamilton. He usually spends the cold season at Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Cronin, of the "Boat Club," Marlborough, are among the most reluctant to leave the North Shore. The Cronins, whose home is on Marlboro street, have also a winter home at Boca Grande, in Florida.

Mrs. Francis H. Appleton and Mrs. Cronin, of Marlborough, were spending a few days in New York at the Hotel Lorraine.

BOY WHO OUTDID PAUL REVERE'S RIDE FINED $25
Henry J. King, 17 years old, of No. 11 Walnut street, Chelsea, was fined $25 today in Court for outdoing Paul Revere's ride.

Judge Barnes had heard Mrs. Grace E. Prell declare Paul Revere never acquired such speed on his memorable ride as King was getting out of a horse while going through Winthrop. King and three other boys had hired the horse in Chelsea and, according to the complaint of the M. & P. C. A., driven it at a terrific speed. Mrs. Prell caused their arrest.

THREE SISTERS HURT AS AUTO RUMS TROLLEY
Three sisters, Sadia, Maria and Mary J. McLean, of No. 103 Amherst street, West Roxbury, were injured today when their automobile collided with a trolley on Washington street, near Tullamore road, West Roxbury, and collided with a street car. The women were taken in a passing automobile to Purser Hill hospital, where they were treated, and later went home.

SUGAR PLANT IS FIRE-SWEPT IN JERSEY CITY

Colgate Soap Works, Chemical Factory and Tenements Are Caught in the Flames

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 14.—An entire city block, occupied by two rows of tenement houses, was a roaring furnace today in a fire which, starting in the Richardson Chemical Company's sulphur plant, destroyed that property and was soon beyond control.

Explosions blew out walls and roof of the plant, broke windows in a half-mile area and spread terror among residents.

The fire spread to the huge American Sugar Refinery, practically destroying the plant, and swept on to the Colgate Soap Works.

At least fifteen firemen were overcome and scores of people were treated for cuts from flying glass and effects of the fumes which rolled across the city and the Hudson River to downtown New York.

The speeding flames took, in a block of three-story frame dwelling houses close by and within 15 minutes persons were ordered to move to places of safety.

A hurry call for assistance to New York City brought the fireboats John Pursey Mitchell and New Yorker to the Jersey City side of the river.

On the Jersey City pier several hundred volunteer firemen battled small flames in various buildings and tenements caused by embers carried by the draft.

Bond's Clothes

Without paying a high price penalty

You get the "jump" on the Season when you buy at Bond's

Whenever you buy a Bond garment--today--tomorrow or next week -- you know you are getting an absolutely authentic style. You can be confident that it is the newest that can be procured—and you don't have to pay the ordinary high price penalty for it. Bond's business methods do not permit the "padding" of a price early in the season to stand a "mark down" later on. Every garment is marked on a basis of how little can we sell it for rather than "how much will this garment bring?"

3 MINUTE JOURNEYS

By Temple Manning
CHUISING down the Broadway from Mainway to Hanover, on a river steamer is pleasant. As you loiterly back to your steamer, you watch the panorama of life roll by on the river banks, you are conscious of a sense of absolute rest and contentment.

The steamer travels the way through the maze of houseboats, barks and barges that lie at anchor along the Burnside River.

Along the shore are villages, their thatched roofs and windows by the spreading branches of the willow trees. In the distance may be seen scenes of Burnside pagoda with their spires pointed toward the distant sky.

At the landing places along the river, the steamers are docked in a most peculiar manner. The first time you see the Burnside from Hanover to South at Ave. Here, for instance, the steamer is some little distance away and the tourist is beginning to wonder just how they will ever manage to dock the steamer. The steamer comes tumbling, the pilot's whistle to ring, and the boat is swung around to get into position for a landing.

Then, the steamer discharges a long line of the dock rafting, drive overboard, and swing toward the shore. The leader holds a rope and the rest are fastened to it. The steamer is towed in, who forms a line and pull it in until the steamer is safely moored. Then they carry the rope up the bank of the river and fasten it to a tree.

In this manner the boat is docked. The same performance is repeated at every landing place. Large crowds of brightly-clad Burnside are to be seen. The steamer. These steamers represent their only transport, for the river is the only highway, for the river is the only highway.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dr. F. X. Mahoney
Boston Health Commissioner
I CAN recall glimmers that occurred in my childhood, when a mother or a nurse would clutch a reticent child and force him to swallow a dose of medicine, or a waif would be pulled into the street, although I scarcely was out of the cradle.

Nurses and mothers who have no more sense than to do this habitually, are responsible for many of the unnecessary misadventures of children at the time, but for many cases of childhood cases often resulting in death.

The canal leading from the external ear to the eardrum has a self-cleaning arrangement. It is not necessary to poke such things as a probe, a cotton swab, a sponge or the corner of a handkerchief into it. In younger children the external ear alone should be washed. This should be done with a soft linen rag after which they should be dried with a similar rag or a bit of absorbent cotton.

The cleaning of the ear should stop at this point and no attempt should be made to remove the yellow wax that is the normal secretion of the external canal of the ear. This wax is necessary for the proper protection of the canal. It should never be removed unless it becomes so hard and dark and accumulates in the canal that it causes trouble. When this occurs, remove the wax by laying the child down on the side with the plugged ear up. Pour in a few drops of tepid solvent of vegetable a little glycerine or sweet oil, get it remain for a few minutes. Then turn the child over with the plugged ear down and the dissolved wax will run out. Repeat this process until the ear is cleaned of all accumulated wax. But don't poke things out of a desire to clean out all of the wax as far as you can see.
